

2023 Antitrust Global Seminar Series: Tokyo

November 29, 2023

Tekko Executive Lounge & Conference Rooms

ABOUT THIS EVENT

On November 29, the ABA Antitrust Law Section will bring together a group of distinguished speakers in Tokyo for this year's Global Seminar Series (GSS). This GSS will be focused on cutting edge issues regarding the role of artificial intelligence and big data in competition law and policy. Along with engaging sessions, we will hear from a senior JFTC official on key enforcement developments.

IMPORTANT DEADLINES

Registration Deadline: November 22

MORE INFORMATION

We hope you can join us in Tokyo as well as throughout the year with the Antitrust Section International Committee.

The International Committee addresses all aspects of international developments in competition law and policy, as well as U.S. antitrust developments with international implications. Committee members have written treatises and handbooks on global competition issues, and they publish a quarterly newsletter, the International Antitrust Bulletin. The Committee keeps members informed about new laws and regulations, leading cases, enforcement trends, policy developments, and agency staff changes. The Committee facilitates international dialogue on competition policy by participating in efforts to expand its international outreach to foreign competition agencies and bar groups, and it works in conjunction with other committees to prepare comments on and analyses of policy initiatives and new competition laws and regulations globally.

Committee Co-Chairs are: Vittorio Cottafavi and Casey Halladay.

Vice-Chairs are: Louise Aberg, Charles de Navacelle, David Ernst, Susan Hutton, Alysha Manji-Knight, Andrea Pomana, and Elizabeth Wang.

We hope you will join us Tokyo!

Adam Hemlock, Global Seminar Chair

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

Antitrust Law Section

November 29, 2023

Tekko Executive Lounge & Conference Rooms

1-8-2 Marunouchi,
Tekko Building South Tower, 4th
Floor
Tokyo

Register By
November 22, 2023

For more information, contact

AT Registrar

atregistrar@americanbar.org